

Panther Pride Homecoming: Time to gather, share, enjoy, and much more

There are significant moments in life that boost courage, dedication, effort, empathy, and everything else that makes us feel how meaningful it is to be part of the SUNY at Old Westbury family. One of these moments is the family quality time among alumni, students, faculty, staff, guests and visitors, reuniting sharing dreams, experiences, accomplishments, and life-lessons learned as we move forward in life. It is called Panther Pride Homecoming and we are celebrating again with the first in-person Homecoming Celebration since 2019!

Come participate in activities, events or a walk - there is something for everyone to enjoy and celebrate at Panther Pride Homecoming. There is an exciting line-up of events planned through Saturday, October 1, 2022, and we cannot wait to see you all of you there with your "Paws UP!"

SOB AACSB ACCREDITATION IN PROGRESS

Celebrations

- On Monday September 19, the SOB received a visit from Dr. Ed Bashaw, the AACSB Team Chair of our Accreditation process. On the picture, from left to right, Dr. Shalei Simms and Dr. Ed Bashaw.

- Dr. David Glodstein, Associate Professor of Accounting, Taxation and Business Law at the School of Business, was named the 2022 Educator of the Year by the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners (ACFE) at the 33rd Annual AFCE Global Fraud Conference, held in Nashville, Tennessee. Dr. Glodstein, CFE, was interviewed by Kate Pospisil, CFE, the Communications Specialist at the ACFE. They discussed the Justice for Fraud Victims Project, why programs like this matter, and what we can do to further the fight for justice. The interview Podcast and more information is available at <https://www.acfe.com/fraud-resources/podcast/podcast-detail?s=august-2022-justice-for-fraud-victims>

Announcements

- On Friday, October 14, from 10 AM to 2 PM will be the Student Success Summit co-sponsored by the Center for Excellence in Teaching and Learning (CETL) and the Teaching and Learning Resources Committee (TLRC). How we can continue to support student success at Old Westbury is the focus of the summit. Participants will receive a certificate from CETL.

- President Sams will be offering Office Hours for students on Mondays throughout the semester. Each week he will meet with a small group of students to hear their thoughts and ideas about their future, the College and more.

- SUNY Long Island PitchFest is a joint business plan competition that offers an experiential learning opportunity for students to become competent in delivering their entrepreneurial pitches to a panel of judges and gain valuable experience and feedback on their business models. This competition is a collaborative effort between Stony Brook University, SUNY Old Westbury, and Farmingdale State College. Students must submit the application along with the business proposal by October 13, 2022. Reach out SUNY Old Westbury Representative, Louise Rotchford, at rotchfordl@oldwestbury.edu.
